Young Coders competition (Manuel)

- It is an annual game design competition aimed to challenge students to program a game with a certain standard, which will challenge their creativity and curiosity to learn and master programming.
  Every year will be a different theme for the competition.